E. STANLEY KROENKE

Owner, Kroenke Sports & Entertainment, LLC

Mr. E. Stanley Kroenke was officially introduced as the owner of the Denver Nuggets on July 6, 2000, and under his leadership, the Nuggets have enjoyed unprecedented success.

The Nuggets have been one of the most successful teams of the past decade and are one of only three NBA teams to make the playoffs in each of the past nine seasons, including a remarkable run to the 2009 Western Conference Finals.

Since taking control of the Nuggets, Colorado Avalanche and Pepsi Center, Mr. Kroenke has been widely recognized as one of the top owners in professional sports, as well as a strong and committed leader throughout the community.

Kroenke Sports & Entertainment, Mr. Kroenke's Denver-based company, also owns Major League Soccer's Colorado Rapids and the National Lacrosse League's Colorado Mammoth. His teams have hosted the 2001 NHL All-Star Game, the 2004 and 2009 NLL All-Star Games, the 2005 NBA All Star Game and the 2007 MLS All-Star Game, bringing some of the world's greatest athletes to Denver.

KSE's dedication to success has been evidenced by the consistent playoff runs of its teams. The Avalanche has made the playoffs in 12 of its 16 seasons in Denver and defeated the New Jersey Devils in June 2001 to win the Stanley Cup, the second in franchise history. The Mammoth has been a playoff participant in seven of its nine seasons and won the NLL championship in 2006. The Rapids have also achieved postseason success appearing in the playoffs in six of nine seasons, including the MLS Cup in 2010.

In February 2007, Mr. Kroenke purchased a significant stake in Arsenal FC. He is the controlling shareholder of London's storied football club. The initial investment came months after KSE and the Colorado Rapids formed a landmark marketing and strategic partnership with the famed Barclays Premier League club. The relationship has been further strengthened by KSE's acquisition of 83 percent shareholding in Arsenal Broadband Limited. In September 2008, Mr. Kroenke was appointed to the Arsenal board as a non-executive director.

In August 2010, National Football League owners unanimously approved Mr. Kroenke's bid to become principal owner of the St. Louis Rams. A native Missourian, Mr. Kroenke played a vital role in bringing the NFL back to St. Louis in 1995. Prior to becoming the majority owner of the Rams, he was the minority owner of the team. With his real estate development expertise, Mr. Kroenke was instrumental in the building of Rams Park, now known as the Russell Training Center.

Under Mr. Kroenke's direction, KSE completed three of the company's most ambitious projects to date. On April 7, 2007 KSE opened the largest soccer-specific complex in the world, Dick's Sporting Goods Park. The state-of-the-art sports facility on more than 160 acres in Commerce City, Colo., seats 18,000 fans for field sports and up to 27,000 for concerts. The award-winning field at Dick's Sporting Goods Park has been heralded as "one of the finest pitches in the world" by numerous international players and coaches who have played at the complex.

In November 2008, the stadium hosted Colorado's first-ever World Cup qualifier between USA and Guatemala. Dick's Sporting Goods Park also includes 24 surrounding playing fields for youth and adult recreational sports such as soccer, lacrosse and rugby. The complex anchors the 917-acre Prairie Gateway site that is a public-private partnership between KSE and Commerce City. The site is host to the Commerce City municipal hall, retail facilities, offices for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and a visitors' center for the Rocky Mountain Arsenal Wildlife Refuge. The project has created hundreds of jobs in the community and is expected to generate thousands more as the growth continues.

Altitude Sports & Entertainment, a 24-hour regional television network began operation in September 2004, becoming the new television home for the Nuggets and Avalanche. Altitude also features other professional, collegiate and high school sporting events, as well as outdoors and lifestyle programming, entertainment and community interest coverage throughout the Rocky Mountain West.

TicketHorse became the official and exclusive ticket provider for both primary and secondary ticket sales for all KSE properties in July 2009.

One of KSE's primary focuses has been the Colorado community and civic causes. $16 million in contributions have been made to Colorado charities through Kroenke Sports Charities and the Denver Nuggets and Colorado Avalanche Community Funds.

KSE purchased the Paramount Theatre, a historic landmark in downtown Denver, in July 2002. The venerable venue remains a vibrant, multi-event facility where Denver residents and visitors enjoy a wide variety of entertainment ranging from classic concerts to family shows, dance productions, comedic performances and charitable events each year. Pepsi Center and the Paramount Theatre are home to more than 250 events annually including world renowned concerts such as Madonna, Celine Dion, U2 and Lady Gaga.

Peak Entertainment, LLC, a joint venture of Kroenke Sports Enterprises and AEG Live Rocky Mountains, opened 1STBANK Center together in March 2010. The multi-use arena accommodates up to 6,500 people for a range of events located in Broomfield, Colo. It was recently voted one of Colorado's top new concert venues.

Mr. Kroenke's enthusiasm and vision ensure that Denver will continue to be the top entertainment destination in the Rocky Mountain region for generations to come. Local media outlets have consistently named Mr. Kroenke one of the most significant people in the Denver arts and entertainment community, saying "No other person entertains more people more often."

In August of 2008, Pepsi Center played host to the Democratic National Convention. Tens of thousands of delegates, journalists, volunteers and patrons descended on Denver and the Pepsi Center for the Convention. The landmark event ranks as one of the most important in KSE and Colorado history.

Millions of people around the world watched the Convention, which city officials estimated boosted the local economy by nearly $270 million.

Mr. Kroenke is chairman and owner of The Kroenke Group, a private real estate investment and development company with properties located throughout the United States and Canada.

Over the past two decades, he has built a reputation as one of the nation's leading real estate developers. One of the largest ranch property owners in North America, Mr. Kroenke's ownership stakes also includes the Screaming Eagle and Jonata vineyards.

Mr. Kroenke's current and former board and trustee memberships include Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., Central Bank Holding Company, Boone County National Bank, Community Investments Partnership of St. Louis, the College of the Ozarks, and the Missouri Basketball Hall of Fame. He is a member of St. Louis' Civic Progress, which provides support and leadership for various community improvements that promote economic development, education and quality of life. In February 2009, Mr. Kroenke was enshrined into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Mr. Kroenke holds undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Missouri. He and his wife, Ann, have a daughter, Whitney, an award winning documentary film producer; and a son, Josh, Governor and President of the Denver Nuggets and Governor of the Colorado Avalanche.

JOSH KROENKE

President & Governor, Denver Nuggets

Josh Kroenke is entering his sixth season in the Nuggets' front office and third season as the team's President & Governor. He also serves as Governor of the Colorado Avalanche and Alternate Governor for the Colorado Rapids.

Since joining the Nuggets as Vice President of Team Development in 2007, Kroenke has been involved in every aspect of day-to-day operations while overseeing one of the most successful five-year stretches in team history. Denver has won at least 50 games in four seasons, made a trip to the Western Conference Finals and captured two Northwest Division titles during that span.

Kroenke helped orchestrate one of the biggest trades in franchise history on Feb. 22, 2011. The three-team, 13-player deal protected Denver's long-term future while keeping the Nuggets among the NBA elite. After the trade, the Nuggets went 18-7 while clinching a playoff berth.

In addition to his role with the Nuggets, Kroenke works closely with KSE's executive committee on multiple business operation issues, ranging from finance to marketing.

After graduating from the University of Missouri with a degree in financial management, he completed a six-month internship with the NBA's League Office working in its Player Development Department. Upon finishing his internship, Kroenke worked as an underwriter for Lehman Brothers in their Global Real Estate Group where he assisted with the debt underwriting and securitization of numerous commercial real estate transactions.

Kroenke was rated a Top-50 player nationally in high school, according to several scouting services, and helped lead the Rock Bridge High School Boys' basketball team to a No. 1 ranking in the state of Missouri as a junior. Kroenke received a full basketball scholarship to the University of Missouri, where he was named Academic All-Big XII First Team and selected team captain as a junior and senior.

Away from the Nuggets and Avalanche, Kroenke is involved in several charitable entities, including the Todd Peglow Memorial Scholarship Fund at the University of Missouri. He is also a major supporter of the Playing For Change Foundation, which is operated by his sister, Whitney, and benefits children worldwide through the building of schools that specialize in the teaching of music and arts.

MASAI UJIRI

Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations

After navigating a successful first two years as the executive vice president of basketball operations for the Denver Nuggets, Masai Ujiri has quickly become recognized as one of the most proactive executives in the NBA.

Ujiri has worked closely with team president Josh Kroenke to execute a plan to protect the team's long-term future while keeping the Nuggets among the NBA elite. Despite major roster changes, the Nuggets went 18-7 after the 2010-11 All-Star break to reach 50 wins for the fourth straight year and clinch a playoff spot for the eighth year in a row.

Ujiri built upon that momentum throughout the 2011-12 season. The Nuggets acquired veteran F Corey Brewer and G/F Rudy Fernandez in exchange for a second round pick on Dec. 13, 2011. As the trade dealine approached, Ujiri brought in JaVale McGee, a young, promising center from the Washington Wizards in exchange for Nene.

Heading into the 2012-13 campaign, the Nuggets made another big move by acquiring All-Star and Olympic gold medalist Andre Iguodala from Philadelphia as part of a four-team trade on Aug. 10, 2012.

Additionally, Ujiri has overseen two NBA Drafts with the Nuggets, including when Denver used the 22nd overall selection on Kenneth Faried, the all-time collegiate rebounding leader. Faried went on to earn a spot on the NBA All-Rookie First Team and was named Rookie for the Month for April. In the 2012 NBA Draft, the Nuggets added more depth to their roster by selecting three players, including Evan Fournier 20th overall.

Before coming to Denver, Ujiri spent three years with the Toronto Raptors after joining the team as director of global scouting in 2007. He was elevated to assistant general manager, player personnel, in 2008 and worked closely with team president and general manager Bryan Colangelo. His duties included overseeing Toronto's scouting and personnel department, talent assessment and related data management.

Ujiri, who was named to his current position on Aug. 27, 2010, is no stranger to Denver after working as a Nuggets scout from 2003-07. He was the team's director of international scouting during the 2006-07 season. Prior to joining the Nuggets, he worked as an international scout for the Orlando Magic.

A native of Nigeria, Ujiri brings tremendous knowledge and extensive global connections to the Nuggets front office. He played professionally in Europe for six years, with stops in Belgium, Germany, England, Greece and Finland. He has scouted all over the world, including Europe, Africa, Asia and South America.

Ujiri also has managed and coached the Nigerian junior and senior national teams.

Along with former Nuggets great Dikembe Mutombo, Ujiri has been tireless in his efforts to promote and develop the game of basketball throughout Africa. He is the founder of the Giants of Africa Foundation, which launched the Top 50 and Bigman camps in his homeland. Ujiri also has served as the director of the NBA's Basketball Without Borders program since 2002.

Ujiri was introduced to basketball at age 13 and quickly fell in love with the game. He went on to play at Bismarck State College and Montana State University-Billings (formerly Eastern Montana College).

PETE D'ALESSANDRO

Vice President of Basketball Operations

Pete D'Alessandro is currently in his third season with the Denver Nuggets, his first as vice president of basketball operations. D'Alessandro assists in the development of all basketball operations strategies as well as the management of day-to-day basketball activities with a focus on trade and free agent negotiations, salary cap management and collective bargaining agreement rules and regulations.

From 2004-2008 D'Alessandro worked for the Golden State Warriors. Initially hired prior to the 2004-2005 season as director of basketball operations, he was promoted to assistant general manager shortly after the 2006-07 season.

D'Alessandro began his career in basketball from 1986-90 when, as a student at St. John's University, he served as video coordinator for the men's basketball team under hall of fame coach Lou Carnesecca. D'Alessandro graduated from Nova Southeastern University School of Law in May of 1994 and was admitted to the New York State Bar in 1995. From 1994-96, he briefly entered the political arena, ultimately serving as the campaign manager for New York State Congressman Rick Lazio's successful re-election to the House of Representatives.

After his stint in politics, D'Alessandro returned to the sports world in 1997, working for a Washington, DC-based sports agency. For seven years, he represented both NBA and International basketball players before being hired in 2004 by then Warriors basketball chief and current hall of famer Chris Mullin.

D'Alessandro currently lives in Denver with his wife, Leah and their three year-old daughter Kate and one year-old son Ben.

GEORGE KARL

Head Coach

He has compiled more than 1,000 victories, made 21 playoff appearances and put together 20 winning seasons. Among coaches in any professional sport, few are more accomplished than Denver Nuggets coach George Karl.

Entering his 25th NBA season and ninth with the Nuggets, Karl ranks seventh in NBA history with 1,076 career victories. Of the six men who have won more games, only three – Phil Jackson, Pat Riley and Jerry Sloan – have a better winning percentage than Karl (.595). Karl has also notched 78 career playoff victories, good for 10th all-time, and earned 10 Coach of the Month honors, which is tied for the fourth-most in NBA history.

Since joining the Nuggets on Jan. 27, 2005, Karl has overseen one of the most successful eras in franchise history.

In seven-plus seasons, his 366 wins are second-most to Doug Moe in the team's NBA history, while his .612 winning percentage is unmatched. His streak of eight straight postseason appearances is the second only to Moe's nine consecutive (1982-90), and Denver's run of four straight 50-win seasons from 2007-2011 is the longest such streak in team history. The Nuggets are one of just three NBA teams (Dallas and San Antonio) to reach the postseason in each of the past nine seasons.

Despite having one of the league's youngest rosters, Karl guided the Nuggets to a 38-28 record in 2011-12. In the process, he recorded his 20th straight non-losing season – tied with Jackson (1989-90 to 2010-11) for the longest streak in NBA history. The Nuggets led the league in scoring and assists, and nearly upset the No. 3 seed Los Angeles Lakers in the Western Conference playoffs before falling in seven games.

The 2010-11 season showcased Karl's skills as a coach. Despite injuries to several key players, he guided the Nuggets to a 32-25 record at the All-Star break, and Denver won 18 of its final 25 games following a three-team 13-player trade that brought five new players to the Mile High City. Karl reached the 1,000-win mark with a victory in Toronto on Dec. 10, 2010, and he received a contract extension on March 8, 2011.

The 2009-10 season was one of highs and lows. While guiding Denver to an overall record of 53-29 and its second straight Northwest Division title, Karl was diagnosed with head and neck cancer. He made the diagnosis public two days after coaching the Western Conference at the 2010 NBA All-Star Game and continued to coach the Nuggets for three weeks while going through intense radiation and chemotherapy treatment. Karl did not return to the bench after a March 16 victory over Washington; Denver went 7-7 in its final 14 regular-season games and lost to the Utah Jazz in six games during the first round of the playoffs. On July 15, Karl received the Jimmy V Comeback Award for perseverance at the 2010 ESPYs.

In 2008-09 season, Karl guided the Nuggets to arguably the best season in team history. With an overall record of 54-28, Denver claimed the Northwest Division title and tied the team record for most wins in a season. As the No. 2 seed in the Western Conference playoffs, the Nuggets defeated New Orleans and Dallas to advance to the conference finals for the first time since 1985. Denver lost to the eventual NBA-champion Los Angeles Lakers in six games.

In 2007-08, Karl guided the Nuggets (50-32) to their first 50-win campaign since 1987-88. It was a five-game improvement over 2006-07, when Karl led the Nuggets to a 45-37 mark, including a franchise-record 22 road wins. The sixth-place finish in the Western Conference was also Denver's best since finishing sixth in 1988-89.

In 2005-06, Karl steered an injury-riddled Nuggets team to 44 wins and a Northwest Division title – the club's first division crown since 1987-88. He became the fifth coach in NBA history to lead at least three different teams to division titles (also Milwaukee and Seattle).

After being hired as Denver's coach in January 2005, Karl engineered one of the greatest turnarounds in NBA history. The Nuggets were 17-25 and stood in 11th place in the Western Conference – six games out of the playoffs – but they went 32-8 and rallied to capture the No. 7 seed in the West. The .800 winning percentage is the best in NBA history for a coach that took over in the middle of the season (minimum 20 games). Karl was named Western Conference Coach of the Month for February and March and finished fifth in voting for NBA Coach of the Year.

Prior to joining the Nuggets, Karl served as head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks (1998-03), Seattle SuperSonics (1991-98), Golden State Warriors (1986-88) and Cleveland Cavaliers (1984-86). During his coaching career, Karl's players have made 27 All-Star appearances, earned 16 All-NBA honors, made 11 All-Defensive teams and won two Defensive Player of the Year awards.

During Karl's tenure in Seattle, the Sonics averaged 59 wins per season and won 384 games – second only to Chicago during that span. He led the Sonics to three 60-win seasons, had just one losing month and never had a losing streak longer than three games. Only three coaches have led their teams to more 60-win seasons in NBA history: Riley (seven), Jackson (six) and K.C. Jones (four).

In five seasons in Milwaukee, Karl led the Bucks to a record of 205-173 and four playoff berths, highlighted in 2001 by the team's first trip to the conference finals since 1986.

Karl broke into coaching as an assistant with the San Antonio Spurs (then in the ABA) under Nuggets coaching icon Doug Moe. He landed his first head coaching position with the Montana Golden Nuggets of the CBA in 1980 and went on to become one of the most successful coaches in that league's history. A three-time CBA Coach of the Year (1981, '83 and '91), Karl compiled a 176-66 (.727) record in five CBA seasons. He led the Albany Patroons to a league-record 50-6 mark in 1990-91, including a perfect 28-0 at home. He also coached two years in Spain with Real Madrid.

In 2001, Karl was selected as the head coach of USA Basketball's 2002 World Championship Team that competed in the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships in Indianapolis.

As a player, Karl averaged 6.5 ppg and 3.0 apg over 264 games and five seasons between the ABA and NBA. He attended the University of North Carolina, where as a junior, he helped lead the Tar Heels to the 1972 NCAA Final Four, and during his sophomore season (1970-71), helped UNC to an NIT title. Although drafted by the New York Knicks in the fourth round of the 1973 NBA Draft, he signed with the San Antonio Spurs of the ABA.

As a two-time cancer survivor (Karl overcame prostate cancer in 2005), Karl is actively involved with several cancer-related organizations. He and his life partner Kim Van Deraa launched the George Karl Foundation in March 2012. The foundation's mission is to support causes and organizations important to their family, including cancer care programs, education, animal rights and environmental initiatives. More information can be found at www.georgekarlfoundation.org.

Karl works closely with the Cancer Care Initiative at Swedish Medical Center to help provide information and assistance for cancer patients and their families. He is also involved with the American Cancer Society, the Cancer League of Colorado and St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Karl also supports Friends of Hoop, which annually hosts King Holiday Hoop Festivals – high school basketball tournaments held in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King – in Seattle and Milwaukee.

Karl, 61, has three children – daughters Kelci and Kaci and son Coby, who was on Denver's roster at the end of the 2009-10 season. In 2007-08, Coby and George became just the third father/son duo to face each other in an NBA game and the first to do so in a postseason game as Denver took on Coby's Los Angeles Lakers in the first round of the 2008 NBA Playoffs. According to Elias Sports Bureau, there are no known instances of a player appearing in an NBA game with his father as his head coach in NBA history.

TELEVISION BROADCASTING

CHRIS MARLOWE

Television Play-By-Play Announcer

Chris Marlowe begins his ninth year as the television play-by-play voice of the Nuggets on Altitude. A veteran of seven consecutive Olympic telecasts on NBC, Marlowe called play-by-play for NBC's coverage of Beach Volleyball at the 2012 Summer Olympics in London this summer. Prior to coming to Denver, Marlowe called Pac-10 Basketball for FOX Sports Northwest in addition to handling USC Trojan play-by-play duties for FOX Sports West.

Marlowe has called play-by-play for a variety of sports during his career, including basketball, football, soccer, volleyball, swimming, diving, gymnastics, cliff diving and poker.

Prior to his announcing career, Marlowe excelled in athletics, playing basketball and volleyball at San Diego State University. In 1976 and 1978 he was voted the Most Valuable Player by USA Volleyball. Marlowe's athletic career culminated as captain of the gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Volleyball team in 1984. The athletic honors continued with his induction into both the San Diego State Aztec Hall of Fame and the California Beach Volleyball Hall of Fame in 1994.

In the offseason, he resides in Denver, with his wife and two daughters.

SCOTT HASTINGS

Television Analyst

The 2012-13 season marks Scott Hastings' 30th year associated with the NBA, either as a player or a broadcaster. He has been covering NBA games as a member of the media since 1993, including 18 seasons with Denver and four seasons with TNT. This will be his 14th straight season providing insight to Nuggets telecasts.

An 11-year veteran of the NBA, Hastings was a member of the 1989 league champion Detroit Pistons and played for Denver from '91-93. A four-year letterman at Arkansas, Hastings was named Honorable Mention All-American as a senior in '82 and left as the school's second all-time leading scorer behind Sidney Moncrief with 1,779 career points (now ranks fourth all-time). He was also recently inducted into both the University of Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame and the state of Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame.

Originally drafted by the New York Knicks with the 29th selection of the 1982 NBA Draft, Hastings also played professionally for Atlanta and Miami in his career.

One of the most well-known media personalities in the Denver market, Hastings has co-hosted a daily sports talk radio show for the last 18 years and served as the Denver Broncos radio color analyst for nine seasons.

RADIO BROADCASTING

JASON KOSMICKI

Radio Play-By-Play Announcer

Jason Kosmicki enters his 18th season with Kroenke Sports Enterprises. After serving numerous roles in the radio department, Kosmicki is now the voice of the Denver Nuggets, entering his fifth year in that role.

"Koz" moved back to the states at the age of 11 after spending seven years living in Germany. He re-learned the English language and eventually attended the University of Nebraska at Kearney. While in college, he served as Sports Director of the campus radio station and called play-by-play action for "just about any sport imaginable," including football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, volleyball, softball, swimming and even the Sigma Tau Gamma fight night (boxing).

His athletic career peaked in high school where he was a four-year letterman in football and basketball and two years in golf. But as Koz is quick to point out: "It's not that impressive; we had 60 kids in our high school."

After college, Koz landed radio stints in Eau Claire, WI (where on his first week he did play-by-play for a curling tournament), Minneapolis, Washington D.C., Houston, Corpus Christi and Colorado Springs before making his way to the Denver area.

In his free time, Koz enjoys golfing and fishing at Lake McConaughy. The Nebraska native follows his home state Cornhuskers and resides in Thornton with his daughter Jacque, who is a senior at Legacy High School.

1. Sixteen teams qualify for the playoffs: Eight teams from each conference, consisting of the three division champions and the five other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage during the regular season.
2. All rounds of the playoffs shall be a best-of-seven series including the NBA Finals. All teams will participate in the first round; there are no byes.

Note: The first four seeds in each conference will be given to the three division winners and the team with the next best regular season record, with these four teams being seeded in order of their regular season records. This ensures that the two teams with the best records in the conference will meet no earlier than the Conference Finals.

Achilles Tendon – The thick tendon at the distal portion of the calf that connects the gastrocnemius (calf) muscle to the heel.

Aerobic – Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen.

Anaerobic – Exercise without the use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) – A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint.

Anti-inflammatory – Any agent that prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Arthroscopy – A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of the damage or confirm diagnosis.

Atrophy – To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Biceps – Muscles on the front of the upper arm responsible for flexing the elbow and shoulder.

Bone Scan – An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bone injury. A bone scan is particularly useful in diagnosing a stress fracture.

Bruise – A discoloration of the skin as a result of an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa – A fluid-filled sac located in areas of the body where friction is likely to occur, for example between a tendon and the underlying bone.

Cartilage – Smooth, slippery substance preventing the ends of bones from rubbing together.

Chondromalacia – Roughening of the articular cartilage. Best known for roughening of the on the underside of the patella, which can occur in any patellofemoral injury.

Concussion – Jarring injury of the brain.

Contusion – A tissue injury caused by a direct blow.

Cyst – Abnormal sac containing liquid or semisolid matter.

Dehydration – State resulting from loss of body fluid where fluid output (sweating) exceeds fluid intake.

Dislocation – Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Fracture – Breach in continuity of the bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress and transverse.

Groin Strain – Strain to the muscles that work to adduct the leg.

Hamstring – Group of muscles that run from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. The hamstring muscles work to flex the knee and extend the hip and are often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of flexibility.

Hip Pointer – Contusion to the iliac crest.

Hyperextension – Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Inflammation – The body's natural response to injury in which the involved site may display various degrees of pain, swelling, heat, redness, and/or loss of function.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging – Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc, and meniscus injuries.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL) – Ligament on the medial aspect of the knee that connects the femur to the tibia and provides medial stability to the joint.

Meniscus – Crescent-shaped cartilage located within the knee that works to absorb weight and provide stability.

Metatarsals – Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Microfracture Surgery – An orthopedic surgical technique that can help restore knee cartilage by creating tiny fractures in the adjacent bones, causing new cartilage to develop. It can be used to treat both degenerative knee problems as well as cartilage injuries, and has gained a high profile in the sports world in recent years.

Patella – The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as to increase the mechanical advantage and force-generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

Patella Tendinitis – Inflammation of the patellar ligament; also known as jumper's knee.

Plantar Fascia – The tight band of connective tissue in the arch of the foot.

Plantar Fasciitis – Inflammation of the plantar fascia; associated with overuse or acute foot injuries.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) – A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that prevents backward displacement of the tibia.

Quadricep Muscles – A group of four muscles in the thigh that works to extend the knee.

Reconstruction – Surgical rebuilding of a joint using natural, artificial or transplanted materials.

Rotator Cuff – Group of four shoulder muscles responsible for moving the shoulder in internal and external rotation and assisting with overall shoulder stability.

Shin Splint – A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Spasm – A sudden, violent and involuntary muscle contraction.

Sprain – A twisting, stretching, pulling or tearing of a ligament.

1st Degree: A stretching but no tearing of a ligament. Athlete may either return to play immediately or will miss very little activity.

2nd Degree: A partial tear of a ligament. Bracing may be required. Athlete may miss one to four weeks.

3rd Degree: A complete tear of the ligament. Depending upon the ligament involved, bracing or even surgery may be required. Athlete may be out of activity from three weeks to one year or longer.

Sternum – The breast bone.

Strain – The stretching, pulling or twisting of a muscle or tendon.

1st Degree: A stretching but no tear of the muscle or tendon. Athlete may either return to play immediately or will usually miss very little activity.

2nd Degree: A partial tear of a muscle or tendon. Athlete may miss one to four weeks.

3rd Degree: A complete tear of a muscle or tendon. Depending upon the muscle or tendon involved surgery may be required. Athlete may be out of activity from three weeks to one year or longer.

Stress Fracture – A hairline break in a bone usually caused by overuse.

Subluxation – Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can be returned to its normal position without formal reduction.

Tendinitis – Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, usually caused by chronic overuse.

Triceps – Muscle on the back of the upper arm that is responsible for extending the elbow and shoulder.

Ultrasound – An electrical modality that transmits sound waves through an applicator into soft tissue in order to heat the area.

40 BYRON BECK

Jersey Number Retired: December 16, 1977

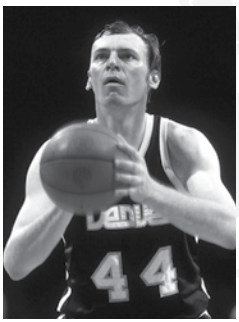
Byron Beck's name can be found next to the word "first" in several places in the Nuggets history books. He was the first player signed by the original Denver Rockets franchise in 1967 and fittingly, his was the first number retired by the Nuggets.

Beck, who played for the Rockets/Nuggets from 1967-77, was one of the best pure shooters in ABA history, and his sweeping hook shot was a team trademark for its first 10 years.

The two-time ABA All-Star (1969; '76) never averaged more than 14.5 points per game in a season; nonetheless, he stands in sixth place on the Nuggets all-time scoring list (8,603) - a true reflection of his consistency. In addition, he ranks second in rebounds (5,261) and third in games played (747).

Beck always stepped up his play at crunch time. In the 1973 ABA Playoffs, Beck averaged nearly 20 points per night. In 1976, he helped lead the Nuggets to the ABA Finals. Beck appeared in 66 playoff games with Denver, posting a 12.8 scoring average - more than a point per game higher than his career regular season average.

The former University of Denver star was a fan-favorite and his work in the community earned him considerable respect off the court. Beck was the leading Nugget in personal appearances and he was the Denver sports co-chairman for Labor Day's Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.



44 DAN ISSEL

Jersey Number Retired: April 5, 1985

The name Dan Issel became synonymous with the Denver Nuggets during his playing days from 1975-85 and it still is today. Nicknamed "The Horse", Issel is one of the most popular sports figures in Colorado history.

Issel never failed to respond when duty called and was one of the most durable players in pro basketball history. In his 15-year pro career, Issel played in 1,218 of 1,242 possible games.

When he retired in 1985, he left as the Nuggets all-time leading scorer and rebounder after notching 16,589 points and 6,630 boards. He still ranks among the top five in nearly every statistical category on the Nuggets all-time list.

One of the most prolific scorers in basketball history, Issel ranks eighth on the combined ABA/NBA all-time scoring list with 27,482 points. He trails only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Karl Malone, Michael Jordan, Wilt Chamberlain, Julius Erving, Moses Malone and Shaquille O'Neal.

There was more to Issel than his on the court prowess, however. He was also a leader in the community. In 1985, the Professional Basketball Writers Association of America recognized that and presented Issel with the J. Walter Kennedy Award for community service.

In 1992, Issel returned to the Nuggets, this time as their head coach. He orchestrated a tremendous turnaround, taking a club that had won just 44 games in two years prior to his arrival and leading them to the NBA Playoffs in just two seasons. He re-joined the franchise in 1998 as General Manager and subsequently served as President and Head Coach until 2001.

"The Horse", a 1976 ABA All-Star and a '77 NBA All-Star, became the first Nugget to be elected into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1993.

33 DAVID THOMPSON

Jersey Number Retired: November 7, 1992

Before there was Michael Jordan, there was David Thompson. Nicknamed "Skywalker", Thompson dazzled Nuggets fans from 1975-82 with his incredible leaping ability, crowd-pleasing dunks and seemingly effortless scoring ability.

In his seven seasons, Thompson racked up 11,992 points - good for fourth on Denver's all-time scoring list. In addition, he still ranks in the top five in nearly every major scoring category in Nuggets history.

After the Nuggets acquired his draft rights in 1975, Thompson made an immediate impact. In his first year, he captured ABA and pro basketball Rookie of the Year honors after averaging 26.0 points per game. He was also named MVP of the 1976 ABA All-Star Game.

Nothing changed when the Nuggets entered the NBA. "DT" was named to the All-NBA First Team in 1977 and '78 and he made three-straight NBA All-Star appearances, earning MVP honors in the 1979 contest. He is the only player to ever be named MVP in both an ABA and NBA All-Star game.

On April 9, 1978, the 6'4" guard poured in a career-high 73 points against the Detroit Pistons. The 73 points are a Nugget single-game record and are tied for the third-most ever scored by an individual in a non-overtime game in NBA history.

Thompson was traded to Seattle in the summer of 1982, ending his illustrious seven-year career in Denver. DT was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1996.

2 ALEX ENGLISH

Jersey Number Retired: March 2, 1993

Alex English's career can best be summed up with one word: consistency. In 10 of his 11 seasons with the Nuggets (1979-90), English averaged better than 21 points per game. In eight of those 11 years, he scored more than 25 per game.

When he departed as a free agent in 1990, English left as the Nuggets all-time leading scorer - having notched 21,645 points - and his career average of 25.9 ppg is the best in Nuggets history. He also ranks 13th on the NBA's all-time scoring list.

The eight-time NBA All-Star is also the Nuggets career leader in games played, minutes played, field goals made, field goals attempted and assists. Additionally, he ranks third in steals, fourth in rebounds and fifth in blocked shots.

In each of his first 10 seasons with the Nuggets, English finished among the top 10 in the NBA in scoring. In 1982-83, he became the first and only Nugget to lead the league in scoring with a 28.4 average. English also holds the distinction of leading the NBA in scoring during the decade of the '80s, after compiling 19,682 points.

A second-team All-NBA member in 1982, '83 and '86, English guided the Nuggets to Division championships in 1984-85 and '87-88.

Also a leader in the community, English was presented the J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award for community service in 1988. In 1985, he convinced NBA players to donate their shares from the All-Star game to Interaction Ethiopia, a relief fund.

He was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1997.

432 DOUG MOE

Jersey Number Retired: November 7, 2002

Doug Moe was the face and personality of the Nuggets throughout the '80s - one of the most successful eras in club history - serving as the team's charismatic head coach from 1980-90.

On Dec. 18, 1980, Moe assumed head coaching duties following the departure of Donnie Walsh. Over the next 10 years, he racked up 432 regular season wins and 24 postseason victories - both team records. He guided the Nuggets to nine-straight playoff appearances, including a trip to the 1985 Western Conference Finals, and two Midwest Division titles in '84-85 and '87-88. In '87-88, the Nuggets won a franchise-record 54 games, earning Moe NBA Coach of the Year honors.

Moe's "passing game" offense was one of the most feared in the NBA during the '80s. The Nuggets averaged no fewer than 114.6 ppg in each of his years and averaged better than 120.0 ppg for five-straight seasons ('80-85). In fact, the Nuggets led the NBA in scoring in six of Moe's 10 years in Denver.

Moe's clubs produced 13 All-Star selections and three of his players, David Thompson, Dan Issel and Alex English, have been inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame.

Affectionately known as the "Big Stiff", Moe began his career with the Nuggets in the ABA as an assistant coach on Larry Brown's staff from '74-76. During those two seasons, the Nuggets posted a 125-43 record and advanced to the 1976 ABA Finals.

He also served as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs ('76-80) and Philadelphia 76ers ('92-93) and compiled 628 career wins, the 20th-most in NBA history.

On April 9, 1978, David Thompson became just the second player in NBA history (Wilt Chamberlain) to score more than 72 points in a game as he hit for 73 against the Detroit Pistons on the final day of the regular season at Detroit's Cobo Arena.

DT broke the NBA record for points in a quarter (32 in the 1st) and field goals in a quarter (18 in the 1st).

His 73 points still stand as the most scored by an individual in Nuggets history and are the third-most (Wilt Chamberlain, 100, Kobe Bryant, 81) ever scored in a non-overtime game in NBA annals.

Despite DT's heroics, the Nuggets lost, 139-137.

HIGHEST SCORING GAME IN NBA HISTORY

An unassuming crowd of 9,655 fans filed into McNichols Arena on Dec. 13, 1983, unaware that they were about to witness NBA history.

On this winter night, the Pistons and Nuggets battled back-and-forth in one of the most exciting games of all time. Detroit, led by All-Star guard Isiah Thomas' 47 points, overcame a horrendous night at the foul line (37-60) and outlasted the Nuggets, 186-184, in triple overtime. The game still stands as the highest scoring contest in league history.

What makes that mark even more incredible is that only two three-point field goals were made the entire night.

In all, six NBA records were broken including: most points, both teams, game (370); most points, one team, game (Detroit, 186); most players with 40-or-more-points, game (4); most field goals made, both teams, game (142); most field goals made, one team, game (Detroit, 74) and most assists, both teams, game (93).

All six still stand today.

DENVER NUGGETS

MISCELLANEOUS

NUGGETS COMMUNITY OUTREACH

The Denver Nuggets are committed to improving the lives of families and children in Colorado through a comprehensive program of education, health and fitness, community initiatives and special events. Our players, coaches and staff are active participants in the community, dedicating over 1,000 hours of their time off the court to visiting schools, hosting youth basketball clinics, lifting the spirits of young patients in the hospital and attending fundraising events that benefit Kroenke Sports Charities.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

The Denver Nuggets are proud to support a number of youth programs that focus on education, health & fitness and teamwork. Every year, players and coaches can be found in the classroom using basketball principles to get students excited about school. The team is also committed to helping children with health and athletic programs by having the players and coaches share their knowledge about fitness and nutrition. The education, health & fitness and athletic programs of the Denver Nuggets include:

Excellence in High School Athletic Training

This program awards Colorado and Wyoming high schools for dedication to their school athletic training programs. In addition, via the Comeback Athlete of the Year Award, a student athlete who has recovered from an injury is awarded a scholarship for post-secondary students and the high school athletic department also receives fund for their school training program.

Nugget for a Day

This program provides an opportunity for deserving children to spend a day as a special guest of the Denver Nuggets The program includes an exclusive behind the scenes tour of Pepsi Center, invitation to a closed Nuggets practice, game tickets, dinner in a suite and special recognition at the game.

Team Fit

This program encourages children in grades 3-8 in metro Denver to practice good fitness and nutrition fundamentals.

Quality Time

This program provides opportunities for children and parents from community and youth programs to spend valuable time together at a Nuggets game.

"Nobody is perfect, except a kid."
"CHOPPER" TRAVAGLINI, Founder of Denver Nuggets Charities

Be There

In an effort to improve school attendance, the Nuggets provide incentives such as game tickets, T-shirts and school supplies to students meeting their monthly attendance goals.

Leadership Challenge

This program strives to develop leadership skills in high school student athletes throughout Colorado by encouraging volunteerism. Outstanding participants are eligible to receive college scholarships.

FAN DEVELOPMENT

Denver Nuggets Skills Challenge

Each year, more than 5,000 children state-wide test their dribbling, passing and shooting skills for a chance to compete on the floor at Pepsi Center before a Nuggets game. The competition takes place at area elementary schools and more than 50 Colorado Parks and Recreation Centers across the state.

Player Clinics

Denver Nuggets players, Community Ambassadors and coaches provide youth basketball players throughout the state with clinics designed to improve skills, teach life lessons and learn the basics of the game. Clinics focus on ball handling, passing, defense and rebounding and shooting and are offered to children of all ages and ability levels.

Special Olympics Colorado Basketball Skills Clinic – March 12, 2013

Each season, 125 Special Olympics athletes from throughout the state join the Nuggets players and coaches for a basketball skills clinic. The clinic is unique among NBA organizations as each Special Olympic athlete has the opportunity to interact with each Nuggets player and coach. The athletes range in age from 8 to 80 years old and travel from cities throughout Colorado to participate in the event.

Denver Nuggets Community Ambassadors

Throughout the year, the Denver Nuggets Community Ambassadors encourage students in Colorado to read more, write more, respect others, show sportsmanship and achieve excellence. The program reached over 30,000 people this season.
